Luke 5:1-11, 27-32

After 40 days in the wilderness, Jesus began to go town to town teaching and healing. Jesus met with ordinary people.

He chose the most unlikely men to be His friends and followers.

Four of them were uneducated fishermen: Peter, Andrew, James and John.

One night, Peter and his friends were fishing and didn't catch any fish.

Jesus was on the same lakeshore teaching with crowds of people pushing him towards the water.

So Jesus stepped into Peter's boat and asked him to push a little farther out into the water.

When Jesus was finished teaching, he said to Peter,

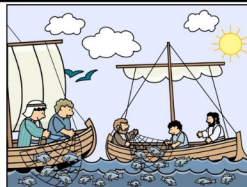

"Now go out where it is deeper,

and let down your nets to catch some fish."

Peter replied, "Master, we worked hard all last night and didn't catch any fish, but if you say so, I'll let the nets down again."

Peter had respected Jesus.

And this time, their nets were full of fish.

Peter was so overwhelmed, he threw himself at Jesus' feet and said,

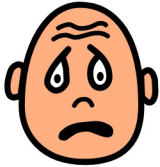

"Go away from me Lord,

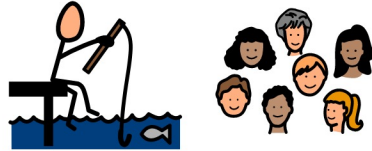

I am a sinful man."

Jesus replied,

"Don't be afraid.

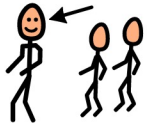

For now on, you will fish for people."

Jesus stopped at a booth where a tax collector named Matthew was.

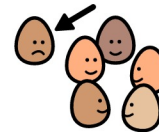

Jesus said to him,

"Come, follow me." Matthew immediately followed and invited

Jesus to come to a dinner party at his home.

Jesus shared a meal with those that would be considered 'outcasts'.

The religious leaders were shocked that Jesus would make sinners and tax collectors his disciples.

Jesus said, "Healthy people don't need a doctor, sick people do..." Jesus included everyone and chose to spend time with people who needed him.
