Ruth 1-2

This week, we learn about three women -

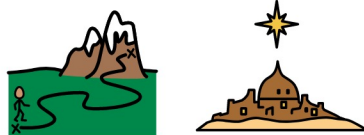

Naomi and her daughter-in-laws, Orpah and Ruth.

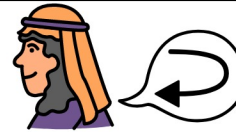

They were left alone after their husbands had all died.

Naomi heard that God provided food in her homeland.

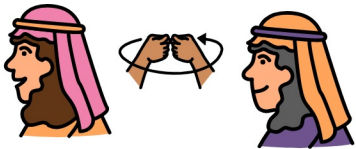

So she decided to travel to Bethlehem (her homeland).

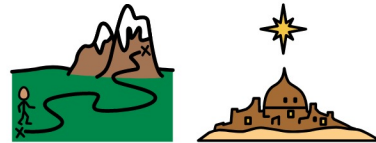

Naomi told Orpah and Ruth to go back to their homelands also.

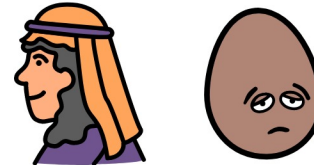

So Orpah left them and went to her homeland.

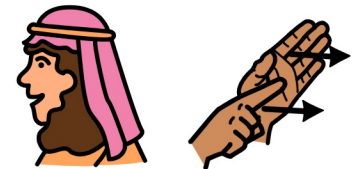

Ruth stayed with Naomi, so together

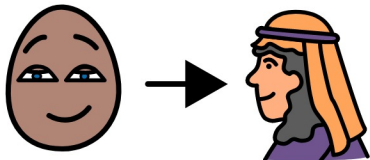

they traveled to Bethlehem.

Naomi became bitter,

but Ruth continued to show patience, love and kindness to Naomi.

When they arrived in Bethlehem, Ruth worked hard gathering left over grain from the fields.

Boaz, the owner of the field, arrived. He saw how Ruth treated

Naomi with kindness.

So Boaz showed kindness to Ruth and changed her life in a huge way.

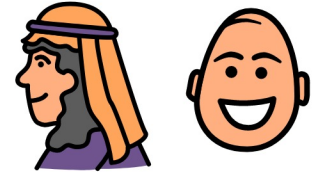

He told Ruth she was welcome to gather grain from any of his fields. He offered her water and rest and made sure there was enough grain for her to gather.

Naomi was amazed

to see how much grain Ruth had gathered.

Ruth told her about Boaz.

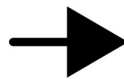

Naomi's attitude began to change and she gave thanks to God.

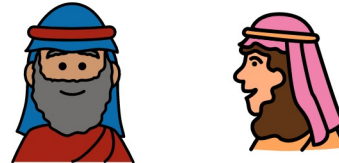

She told Ruth that Boaz was a close relative.

Because of Ruth's kindness to Naomi and Boaz's kindness to Ruth, Naomi was able let go of her bitterness and welcome joy back into her life.
